Encouragement For Success

I want to talk about encouragement and how to succeed in business.

There are so many opportunities that exist today and you probably have a lot of them coming your way. You may see them in direct mails, in your inbox or hear about them from friends.

There are so many different methods and tactics being discussed and in the midst of achieving certain goals, you need to remember to stay positive and stay encouraged.

I've been there and I know what it's like to come from nothing and create everything. I've travelled that journey and I want to encourage you now so you can achieve your success.

During that journey, it's so easy to become tortured by doubt. You may find yourself struggling with the idea of whether your success is possible or not. You may find yourself doubting your capabilities and more. You may be able to see it happening but your own doubts can easily take over and your success soon becomes a fleeting idea.

Anxiety is another problem for a lot of people. Anxiety can completely paralyze you to the idea of moving forward and succeeding.

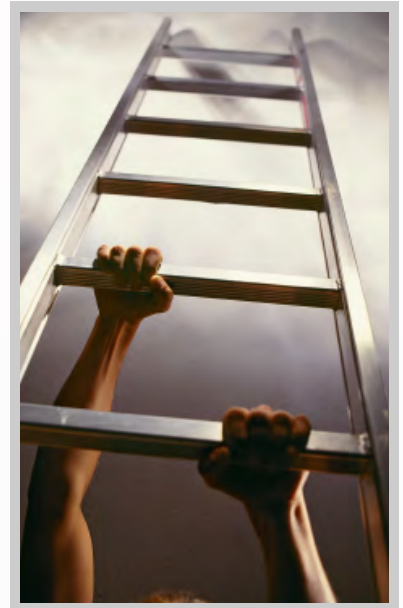

Time is another issue and sometimes the journey can wear you out.

Hold On and Stand Strong

In this report, I want to encourage you to hold on. I want to encourage you to stand strong because it won't be that long before you wake up and start to see things materialize.

No matter what you want to accomplish, the one thing to realize is that regardless of how beautiful and wonderful technology is and how amazing the internet is, you'll never be able to remove the human element from what it is you're looking to accomplish. You will always have to deal with emotions like anxiety or things like doubt.

You might be a disgruntled pessimist.

You could be so pessimistic and have all the reasons why this is right for you. You tell yourself and the world why you can't accomplish certain things and why your life is the way it is. If this is you, then this report is here to tell you to hold on and to be strong.

You may be focusing on the barriers you see in your life. These barriers just increase your doubt and anxiety. They create great pessimism within you and give you all the reasons as to why you can't achieve success. This is just not true.

The accumulation of all of these things can crush you. You become held down. This report is here to encourage you to hold on and to stand strong. I can't guarantee that your success is going to be easy, but I can guarantee you that you will make it. You will make it if you hold on and stand strong. You have to realize that your success is a process.

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR SUCCESS

The world needs you to pursue that aching desire and passion that you have to be, do, have and experience everything you have inside of you. The world wants you to contribute and share what you have to offer.

You need to allow this to flourish and that is the main reason why you have to hold on. You have to be strong because it won't be long till those aching desires and passions are realized.

You may look for encouragement but you have to remember that you're a source of encouragement for other people too. When you give an approving smile to someone,,it makes them in that moment, feel like everything is okay.

Different Experiences

What about your life's experiences?

Throughout your life, you've collected a great deal of knowledge and wisdom. It doesn't matter whether this knowledge is good or bad. You have an amazing amount of wisdom that the world needs to experience.

What about that innovative spirit that you have inside of you?

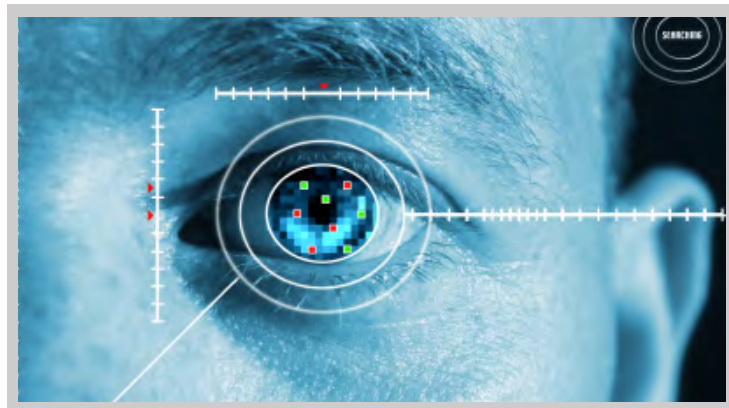

Your spirit is yearning to release the ideas and then manifest them into this world to make other people's lives better. The world needs that and it needs it from you. This is another reason why you have to hold on and stay strong, so that you can see the manifestation of your dreams.

Every single person in the world goes through a process. You may have instant readiness where you're ready and able to help a person when they are in need. This could even be words of encouragement. The world needs this from you.

What about your observing eye?

You have the ability to see things that others can't see. Your eyes are important to this world because you will see things that others will miss and you can point them out so that they can receive some benefit. The world needs your observing eyes.

All those skills that you have accumulated and developed in your particular craft or crafts; those superior skills can also be translated to value to a marketplace and then financial value back to you.

You have conquering intelligence. By this I mean that you have a level of intelligence that can conquer any circumstance or any situation and allow you to make it through. You can get to whatever that Promised Land is, so that you can be there and experience it and contribute the value you have to whoever needs it.

You have a disciplined mind. If you do not focus on how disciplined your mind is though you will not be able to capitalize on it. If your mind was not disciplined then your body would not function. The heartbeat, the pumping of blood, the movement of every arm and finger in your body, the utilization of your nervous system and everything that is channeled to your brain let's you know your mind is disciplined. Your mind may be disciplined but maybe you tend to focus on the areas of your life that you feel is not disciplined and then you complain about it instead of understanding.

In order to succeed you have to hold on. I'm not talking about sitting there and not moving. What I mean by holding on is continuing to press forward with unwavering desire and passion for what it is you want to be, do, have, become, experience or contribute. You have to be proactive to continue to move forward.

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR SUCCESS

If you stand strong before you know it you will have success. You have to have faith and use it every single day. You have to believe that you can do, be, have and experience what it is you desire in life. Don't put things off until tomorrow because tomorrow could be too late. Do it today. There is a great saying:

"There is no better time than the present to design and pursue your future."

Every person who has ever achieved something great is just as human as you are. We can all be blinded by the opportunities that arise but if we stand strong and stay focused we will succeed. It's okay to feel things you don't want to feel, this is part of the process. You will overcome these emotions if you do what it is you want to do. You're human and as a human you will fall down but the decision is yours whether you get up again or not.

Making Decisions

The difference between people who win and people who lose is the decision these people make. They may fall down but they don't stay down. They make the decision to get back up again and they don't count how many times they fall back down.

What these people focus on is the win. They focus on what they are here to do, to accomplish and to contribute and you can do this too.

Don't let excuses get in the way of you being a person of excellence, a person of character and a person of defined values. Understand what it is you stand for and what you represent.

We all have something in common when it comes to resources which is 1,440 minutes, 24 hours a day. What you do with those is going to determine how successful you will become.

One of the most powerful resources that you have in addition to your time is your self-esteem. You need to guard your self-esteem. What you say to yourself and how you talk about and feel about yourself is important. You need to build your self-esteem because it's like the glasses you see the world through. If your glasses are discolored or tainted, then no matter how great you are or what your potential is you will never see it.

With all that encouragement, all that is left for you to do now is to take it on board and make sure that you hold on and stand strong until your success finds you.
